Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

"What a Grandmother Should Be" appeared in the Catholic Digest recently.

This was written from a child's point of view:

A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little girls. A grandfather is a man who lives with his wife, and they talk about fishing and tractors and like that.

Grandmas don't have to do anything except be there. They're old, so they don't play hard or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market where the pretentious horse is and have lots of dimes ready. Or if they can take us for walks, they should show down past things like pretty lawns or caterpillars. They should never, ever say, "Hurry up."

Usually they are fat, but not too fat to let the kids show. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off.

It is better if they don't type-write, or play cards except with us. They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like why dogs hate cats and how come God isn't married. They don't talk baby talk, like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip, or mind if it is the same story again.

Everybody should try to have one, especially if you don't have television, because grandmas are the only grownups who have got time.

Needless to say, a child who never knew his grandparents has missed one of the great things in life.

Congratulations to Miss Mary Leslie Erwin on a promising future. This young lady plotted her course, followed it, and has done well. She is setting the world at the present time as a stewardess with Pan-American Airlines.

On a run recently somewhere in the world she met a passenger who knew Frank Ellis well. Frank is her uncle as you well know.

Big discussion on the high wind last night. We slept right through it.

Our only defense was that we had such a clear conscience that we were sleeping the sleep of the blessed.

Actually we did not need to apologize for sleeping through the windstorm because there is not much you can do in such a storm anyway.

Just like Mark Twain said, about all you can do about the weather is talk about it.

Local American Legion team splits a doubleheader yesterday in Owensboro. The thermometer stood at 112. They were doing pretty good just to play ball. We were burning shade ourselves.

A great convenience are the ice dispensers on the Hazel Highway and on Chestnut Street. You drop in 30 cents and out comes a bag of crushed ice.

We looked inside the one out of Johnson's Grocery. It was out of stock and Paul Haskel was working on it. A lot of bolts and things which move the ice to the proper position. Of course the whole thing is a refrigerator too to keep the ice from melting.

We were sorry to hear of the death of N. O. Story. A fine fellow whom we got to know well during the years.

That is a parking lot which is being prepared just south of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. M. C. King of the Oak Grove Baptist Church had what might have been a light heart attack. Good luck to him.

Joe Morton Reports To Civitans On Trip To Convention

Civitans in attendance at last week's meeting heard President Joe Morton report on his trip to the Civitan International Convention in Jacksonville, Florida. The convention, held in Florida's Gateway City, took place on June 26, 27, 28, and 29, and was Civitan's 46th Annual Convention. Morton stated that "I still always look upon my participation in the 1966 convention as a significant event in my life. Words cannot express the feeling one has in meeting with hundreds of Civitans from all over the United States and Canada for the common dedicated purpose of building better citizenship. It was an unforgettable experience." One of the highlights of the convention was a trip to Mayport Naval Station, the United States military base in North America.

Plans got under way for the Civitan Ice Cream Sale at the Calloway County Fair. Stanley Henry, project chairman, reported that the home-made ice cream would be sold at the same low prices as last year and that he was looking forward to record breaking sales. All proceeds will be used to support Civitan Community Projects.

President Morton announced the appointment of the various committees. Chairman appointed were: M. B. Hensley, Membership; Robert McCallan, Fellowship and Attendance; John Williams, Inter-Club; Joseph Williams, Publicity; Woodrow Rickman, Program and Entertainment; and Building and Repair, Aubrey Willoughby—Civitan Education; Hoyt Roberts—By-Laws; Hardman Mix—Delegates; and Ernest Mayfield—Food.

In other club business, President Morton expressed his regrets over the departure of Major Henry N. Henry, Jr. Major Henry has been a Civitan since 1963 when he was assigned to the Military Science Department at Murray State University during his three years as a Murray Civitan. He took an active role in all projects and served as Sergeant-at-Arms during 1966. Major Henry has been re-assigned to Germany. His absence will be felt by all, President Morton said.

Capt. Joe Fournier, club publicity chairman and ROTC instructor at Murray State, was awarded the Civitan Luncheon Badge with honor for recruiting a new member. Capt. Fournier was also given a vote of thanks for his work as Publicity Chairman during the past year.

Meeting Of Kiwanis Club Held Last Week

The weekly dinner meeting of the Murray Kiwanis Club was held last week at the Murray Woman's Club. The scheduled program had been canceled, so Dr. Josiah Darrall, a member of the Music Department at Murray State University, "filled-in" by entertaining the Club with a few selections of French Folk Songs.

The monthly official board meeting was held immediately after the regular meeting and several important matters were considered. It was voted to contribute $50 towards sending a local girl (a diabetic patient) to a clinic dealing with the care and treatment of diabetes. This clinic was held at Ruston Creek the last two weeks in June.

The Club also voted to give $15 to the Circle K Club at Murray State University for the coming fall semester. Circle K is sponsored by Kiwanis International to promote Kiwanism on the college campuses.

It was suggested that the Boys and Girls Committee of the local Club study the proposal of establishing a "Kiwanis" Scholarship Fund for some needy college student in the Murray-Calloway area. It was suggested that this fund, if approved, be applicable only at the local University.

The Kiwanians will have a booth at the Calloway County Fair during the week of July 18 and everyone is invited to purchase a "Kiwanis" dog tag. The money shall be used for the benefit of the community, especially in aiding the poor and the handicapped.

"If you don't like what happened today, be here tomorrow."

BOULDER, Colo. — Dist. Atty. Rex Scott, discussing assailant who killed University of Colorado poet in a music practice room:

A Bible Thought For Today

There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. — Joshua 1:5.
Wrong doing makes cowards of men, those who live by their ideals can look the whole world in the eye and smile.

Hazel Rt. 2 News

By Mrs. George Linville
Just one more day of July as I write this letter. Seems the year has flown by in some ways and gone slowly other ways. This hot weather is making all of us feel badly and the dry and hot weather is ruining crops and gardens. Quite a bit of visiting lately. Mrs. Buddy Carroll and children were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Albritten. Their daughter, Diana, is spending her vacation here and Karen Albritten has been here since Friday. Miss Mayne Morgan was a Sunday dinner guest. Mrs. Francis Cline and daughter of Evansville, Ind. were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Shaw. The granddaughter, Cynthia, is visiting here for three weeks or so. Dale Buckley delivered two good lessons Sunday and he with his daughters, Phyllis and Gladys, and brother-in-law, Nelson Oliver, all of Henderson, Tenn. were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hardean Miller and children. Mr. and Mrs. Orval Simmons of Jackson, Tenn. were weekend guests of Mrs. Bertha Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Oren Simmons, who attended church here. Mr. and Mrs. Hulton Williams and son were Saturday night callers. Audrey Summers and her sister, Kay, Kathryn, were Sunday dinner guests. Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Stubbfield, Mrs. Ellis Shoemaker, and Mrs. B. C. Stubbfield and children took Mrs. Marjorie Stubbfield to Savannah, Tenn. Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Stubbfield and Mrs. Clarence Miller to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Buchanan and family in Charleston, South Carolina. Mrs. Earl Douglass Presents Program At WSCS Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met July 5 in Hale Chapel of the church.

Mrs. John Whitnell, president, presided and opened the meeting with the reading of the purpose of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. William B. Jones, a visitor was introduced and the names of new members were read — Mrs. Cecil Kirk, Mrs. Reid Hale, and Mrs. William Harvey.

Mrs. Whitnell presented Mrs. Earl Douglass, chairman of the Mattie Belle Hayes Circle who was in charge of the program. Mrs. Douglass, pianist, played a selection of hymns for quiet music for the opening of the program. Mrs. Jones gave the devotion based on Cor. 2:1-9.

Mrs. Jones introduced Mrs. Earl Douglass who discussed the theme of the program — "Chosen for Action" dealing with women in the background of deaconism, the changes through the centuries, and the changes in the status of women from home-maker, only to work outside the home with greater privileges and responsibilities.

In closing Mrs. Douglass quoted from the 15th chapter of John, verse 16 — "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you and ordained you that ye should go and bring forth fruit . . ."

After a brief business session in which reports were made by the secretaries of the various lines of work, the treasurer, and circle chairmen, the meeting was adjourned with prayer by Mrs. Whitnell.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Members present were Mesdames C. B. Fair, P. A. Hart, Clyde Jones, Vernon Riley, Frank Roberts, Eugene Scott, R. L. Wade, J. E. Littleton, W. J. Gibson, and Speegle. Two guests were Mrs. Mary Bordeaux and Mrs. James Robertson.

Dear Abby

Teachers' Advice May Be The Answer

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My eleven-year-old daughter picks the most peculiar friends. Her newest chum worries me. She came over yesterday with a stocking cap (in JULY!) which she said she couldn't take off because the doctor had found some "crawlies" in her head and he had shaved all her hair off. (I do believe the child had lice, don't you?)

Now this little girl is sweet and nice as she can be. She even got my daughter interested in the Bible, which I think is fine, but I shudder to think that my daughter may catch lice from her. How contagious is lice, or whatever it is that she had? Should I worry?

DEAR WORRIED: The child with the "crawlies" (or whatever it was) has apparently seen a doctor, so whatever she had is now under control. I wouldn't worry.

DEAR ABBY: I took my freshman year over again and I am still a freckling cap. In other words, I failed everything again. I admit I fooled around the first time, but I really tried to make it this time, but the work was too hard for me. My parents don't believe me. They think I let them down, but I really tried my best.

I would like to quit school and go to a trade school, but my father says I have to graduate from high school. It takes me 10 years. What can I do?

DEAR ASHAMED: Enlist the help of your teachers. They will know if you really did your best or fooled around. If you worked up to your capacity and failed, you have nothing to be ashamed of. And I agree, trade school might be the answer.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were divorced three years ago, but you would never know it from the way MY family (get this—MY family) treats him. He is included in every family gathering, and is told constantly they still love him "like a son-in-law, nephew, uncle, cousin," and so on. I don't mind telling you that this gets my goat. What do you think my family is trying to accomplish anyway?

DEAR EX: Either your family is trying to "get your goat" (and succeeding) OR they figure the divorce was a mistake (yours?) and they simply like the man.

DEAR ABBY: The wife who was worried because her husband's hobby was flying is all up in the air about nothing. If the four-wheeled fliers of our highways can ever produce a safety record equal to that of the pilots of our nation, doctors and undertakers will have to start moonlighting to make a living.

Tell her to let him fly and be happy—if he's killed, it will probably be on the highway between home and the airport.

DEAR ABBY: The wife who was worried because her husband's hobby was flying is all up in the air about nothing. If the four-wheeled fliers of our highways can ever produce a safety record equal to that of the pilots of our nation, doctors and undertakers will have to start moonlighting to make a living.

Tell her to let him fly and be happy—if he's killed, it will probably be on the highway between home and the airport.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were divorced three years ago, but you would never know it from the way MY family (get this—MY family) treats him. He is included in every family gathering, and is told constantly they still love him "like a son-in-law, nephew, uncle, cousin," and so on. I don't mind telling you that this gets my goat. What do you think my family is trying to accomplish anyway?

DEAR EX: Either your family is trying to "get your goat" (and succeeding) OR they figure the divorce was a mistake (yours?) and they simply like the man.
